

the right formula for Johns Hopkins Hospital - Wilmer Eye Institute

OVERVIEW

- Project: 6-story, 202,350 sq. ft. education and research facility
- Architect: SST Lab Planners, Ayers/Saint/Gross Wilmot Sans
- GC: The Whiting-Turner Contracting Company

In these new labs for Johns Hopkins Hospital - Wilmer Eye Institute

Flex Series Core Based System

---

Lexington Series Wood Veneer Casework

---

Epoxy Resin Tops, Sinks and Pegboards

---

Pro Series Fume Hoods

---

The new Wilmer Eye Institute building at Johns Hopkins Hospital is a six story 202,350 sq ft research laboratory building with an outpatient care facility. New England Lab supplied maple wood casework, 6" metal core systems and Pro Series fume hoods. Stainless Steel casework and work surfaces were also provided in specialty areas. The project also featured tan colored epoxy resin work surfaces. Stainless steel casework and counter tops were also provided in specialty areas.